WELCOME TO THE 48th ROUND TOP MUSIC FESTIVAL

ROUND TOP FESTIVAL INSTITUTE

The sole endeavor of

THE JAMES DICK FOUNDATION for the PERFORMING ARTS

The James Dick Foundation for the Performing Arts has created a new dimension for education in the arts. The project, Round Top Festival Institute, was first a dream – a dream, and then circumstances gave it a place to develop important curriculum and performance opportunities for gifted young musicians from all over the world. I welcome you to Festival Hill and invite you to honor the dream as we begin to celebrate the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Institute in 2020!

Since 1971, hundreds of young artists have come to Round Top to study under the tutelage of masters in the field of music, assuring the continued appreciation and experience of music immortals as well as exploring the realm of new music. This summer we have the opportunity to recognize Joan Tower in the “Year of the Woman” as one of America’s foremost composers with a week-long series of concerts during the Festival.

Ninety international students from twelve countries will call Festival Hill home for the next six weeks. Studying with 40 faculty members and eight conductors, they represent 45 colleges, universities and conservatories. Your continued support through ticket sales and donations makes it possible to offer scholarships and endowed chairs for every summer festival.

We are also celebrating the completion of the Faith P. and Charles L. Bybee Library located in the Festival Concert Hall. With over 40,000 books covering art, architecture, decorative arts, local history, music and Texana, the library is open by appointment. The light-filled space with views of the countryside makes it an ideal study center for our community, researchers and visitors.

We encourage business and educational groups to make Festival Hill a destination for conferences and retreats, as well as weddings and groups for tours and dining. I hope you will attend performances throughout the 48th Festival season and invite you to come back often for more music, ballet, educational forums and other exciting events throughout the year at Festival Hill.

If there can be one ultimate mission of Round Top Festival Institute, it is to serve the work of humanizing and harmonizing the deepest sensibilities of all people who come in contact with it. All of this, to me, is the most wonderful reason for celebration!

FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

ANNUAL GIVING

Annual gifts are the bedrock of Round Top Festival Institute. They are the Institute's largest source of revenue. When combined with earned income from ticket sales, facility rentals, and endowment interest, annual giving provides the funding needed to sustain this internationally recognized cultural center. Annual giving supports concerts, events, and forums throughout the year. All young artists studying and performing at the Institute receive scholarships. Some are provided through endowment, others through foundation grants, and the balance through unrestricted annual gifts.

ENDOWMENT GIVING AND BEQUESTS

Permanently endowed scholarships, faculty chairs and named funds are an exceptional way to help attract internationally renowned faculty that are core to our educational programs and provide full tuition to every young artist who attends our acclaimed Festival. Endowed Conductor Chairs begin at $100,000, Endowed Faculty Chairs begin at $75,000 and Endowed Scholarships begin at $50,000. Endowed positions may be funded over several years. For information regarding Endowed Chairs and Scholarships, please send email to giving@festivalhill.org or call the Institute office.

CAMPUS DEVELOPMENT CAMPAIGN

Campus development allows the Foundation, a non-profit organization, to pursue debt-free ownership of the grounds and facilities at the Institute. Your gifts toward this aim help fulfill the Master Plan for campus building projects and ensure the ongoing care and maintenance of this unique cultural legacy. For more information on current campaigns, future needs and naming opportunities, please send email to giving@festivalhill.org or call the Institute office.

SOME ENSEMBLY* REQUIRED

Introducing the final piece of our 50-year design plan; The Ensemble Center.

*Not an actual word

A musical ensemble only works when the elements align in harmony and precision. In much the same way, The Ensemble Center will complete our vision for the Festival Concert Hall and provide critically needed rehearsal, teaching and storage spaces to this world-class hall. It is hoped we can accomplish this last step by our 50th Anniversary in 2020.

The current rehearsal and teaching spaces are spread across several buildings on campus. There aren't enough rehearsal rooms and they cannot accommodate the large size of the harps, double basses and percussions. The current spaces also lack necessary acoustical and environmental treatment. These large instruments are cumbersome to move and susceptible to structural risk when exposed to the jostling, heat and sunlight of cross-campus travel. The percussions, in particular, ideally should be permanently stored near the stage.

The Ensemble Center will address these pressing needs by adding 3,320 square feet of space for seven purpose-built rehearsal studios, including additional backstage restrooms, a loading dock and a permanent area for concessions. Simultaneously, it will provide more usable space for changing rooms, theater and ballet performances, classrooms for educational forums, and breakout rooms for conferences. Conferences and retreats are becoming an increasingly important part of the organization's funding structure. The Ensemble Center will therefore address multiple, concurrent campus needs. In addition, the second floor of The Ensemble Center will provide increased exhibit and book space for The Bybee Music Library.

It takes a group of determined and precise musicians to successfully perform an ensemble piece and we invite you will join us in assembling this final component that will complete the concert hall.
